

Computer Network

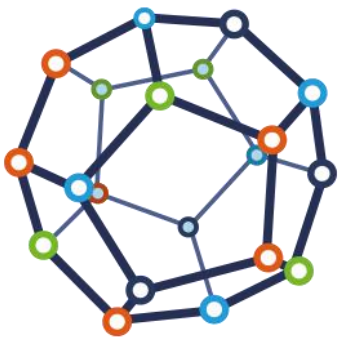

Class VI
lab 1

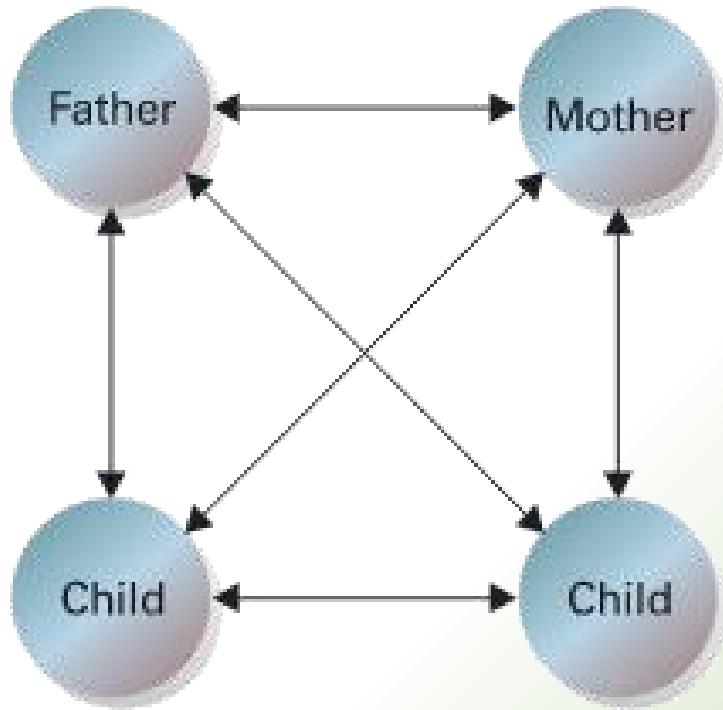

What is Network

a group or system of interconnected people or things

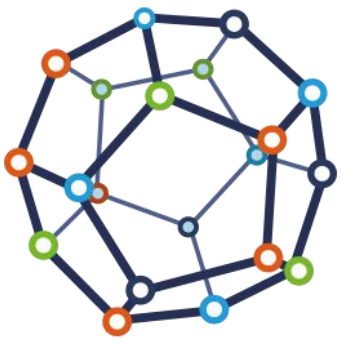

Human Networks

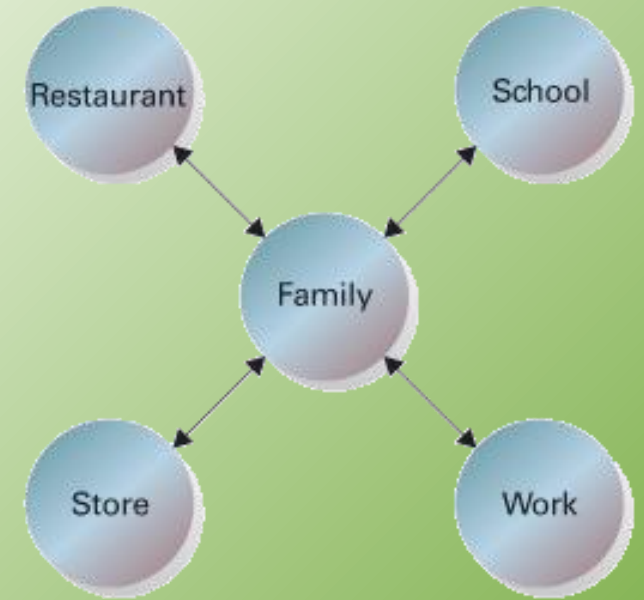

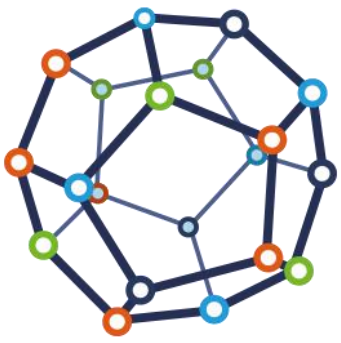

there may be a single network like family where many attributes (father, mother, sister, brother etc) are connected to each other

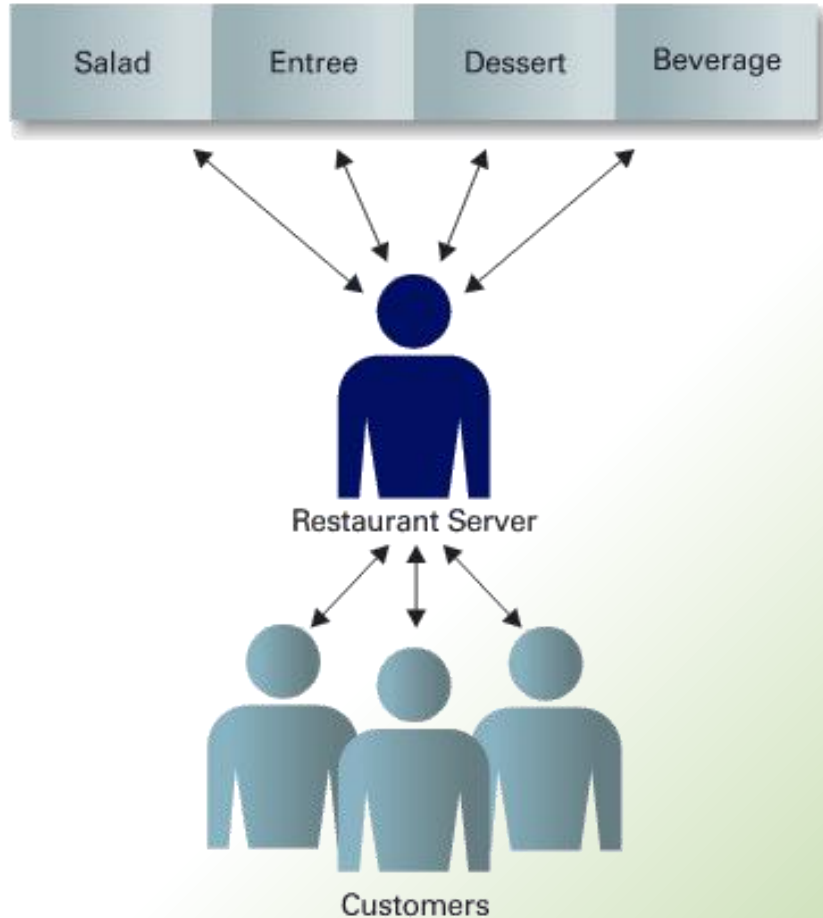

Peer Networks

a single network can be connected with another network

Client and the Server server provides something and client get that by the help of media

Computer Network

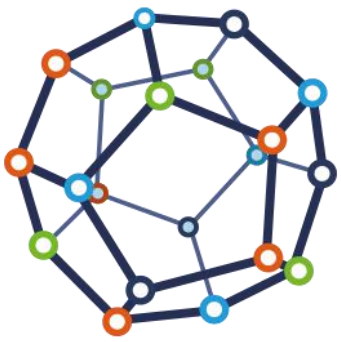

Share resources from one computer to another

Computer Network

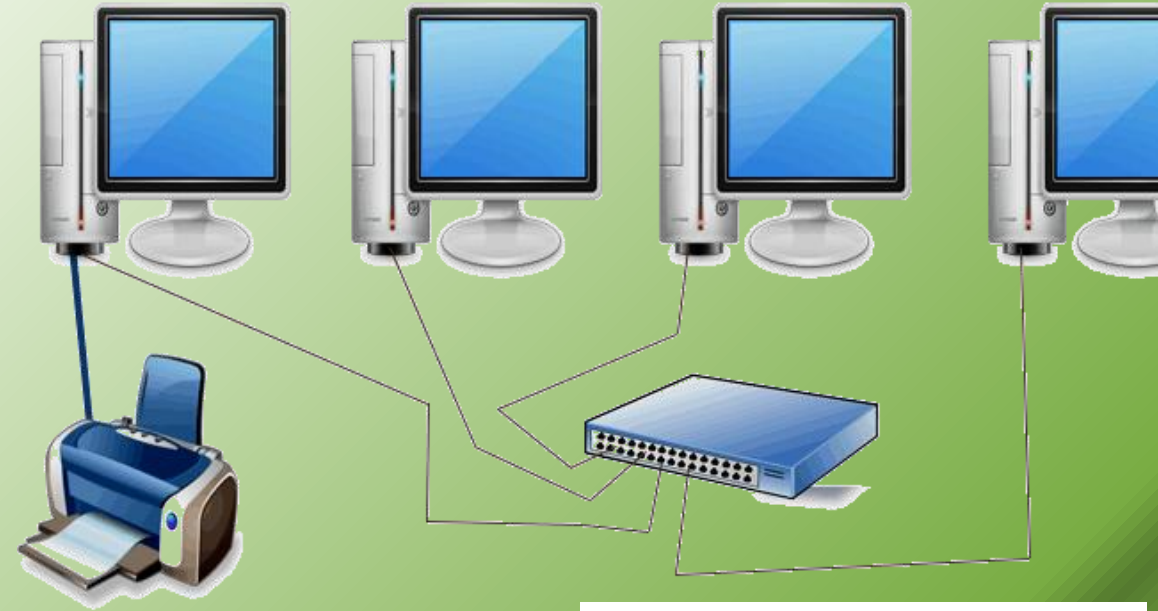

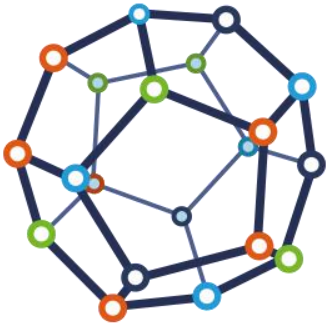

Store files in one computer and access those files from other computers

Computer Network

Connect a printer, scanner, or a fax machine to one computer and access them from other computer

Thank You!

