

Web and Internet

Class VI
lab 9

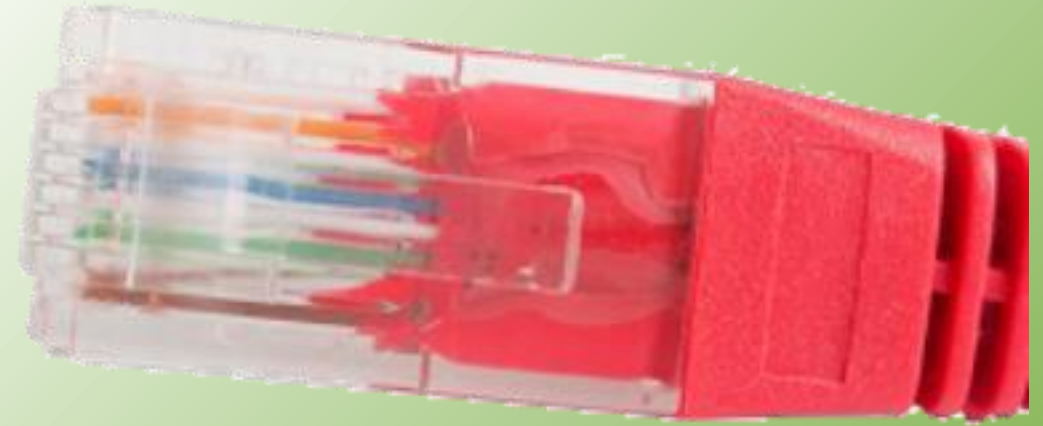

Network Devices

RJ45 Connector

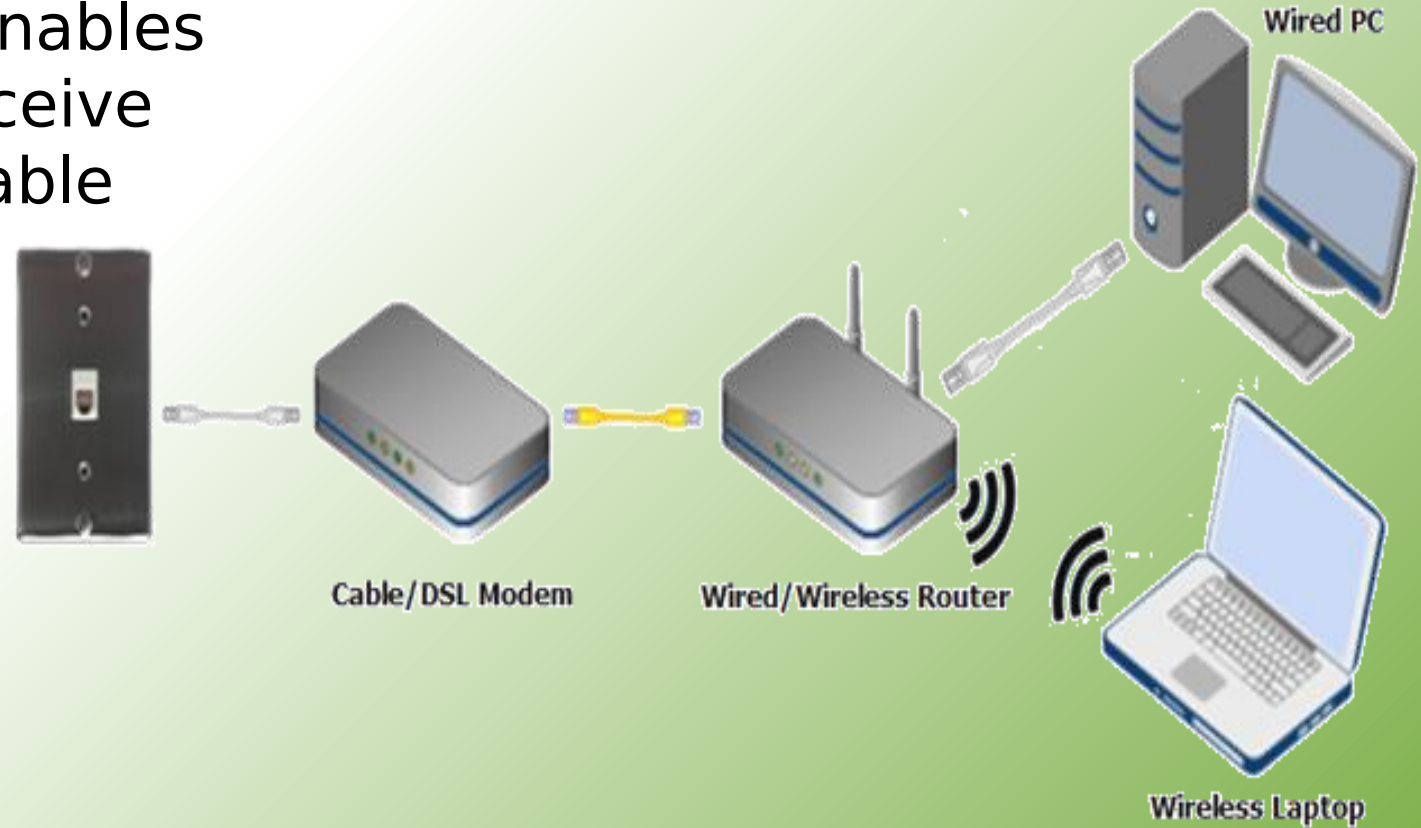

RJ45 connector is an 8-pin jack physically connect to Ethernet based local area networks

Modem

Modem is a device that enables a computer to send or receive data over telephone or cable lines

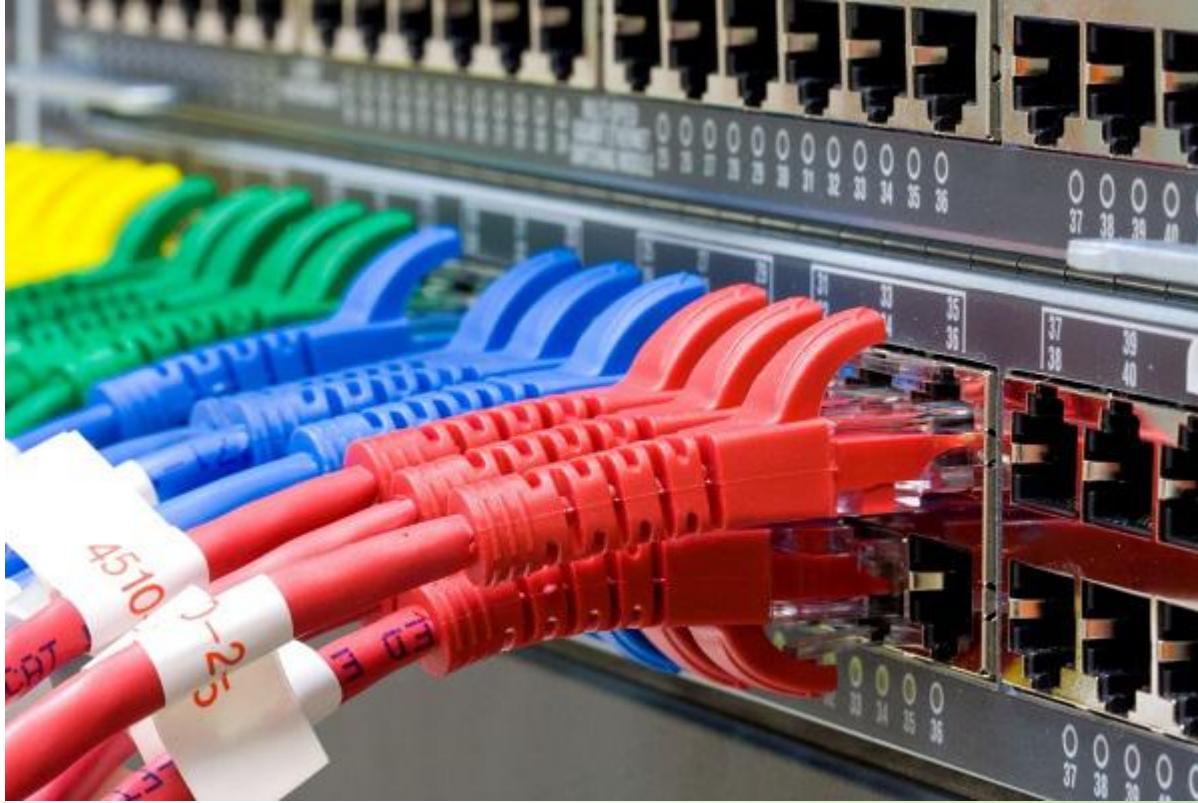

Router

A router is a network layer hardware device that transmits data from one LAN to another if both networks support the same set of protocols

Switch

device that connects other devices to Ethernet networks through twisted pair cables

Thank you!